Rocky to Aid Upstate GOP

By Olden O'Brien
Special to The News

ALBANY — Gov. Rockefeller is "ready and willing" to go anywhere in the state to speak for Republican candidates running for election in November, he has advised party leaders.

He is already scheduled for speeches in Syracuse June 6 and 7 and will make at least a dozen other upstate appearances this summer.

The governor apparently agrees with Republican Chairman L. Judson Morhouse that the local elections this fall are a "tune-up" for 1962 when Rockefeller and Senator Jacob K. Javits will campaign for re-election.

Although Rep. Sam Stratton, a Democrat, warned Republicans last week that they make a mistake in believing Rockefeller's re-election is in the bag, GOP leaders are still pretty confident. Their fear is not of losing but rather of not "winning big."

A majority of political observers concede that the Governor can be re-elected but some contend that his popularity has waned in many Republican strongholds.

Speaking at the annual state convention of Young Republicans at Saratoga Springs last week, Chairman Morhouse flatly contradicted this notion. The 1959 tax increase and the ill-starred proposal for fall-out shelters for which Rockefeller has been criticized were characterized by Morhouse as distinct advantages.

The tax increases put the state on a sound fiscal basis, he said, and the wisdom of the proposal for fall-out shelters has been confirmed by recent information that the Soviet Union is spending $1.5 billion a year on a similar program.

The Governor's team is looking for a majority of 800,000 votes in 1962 as a solid lever to pry open the GOP presidential nomination in 1964.

Their hopes are based on the 573,000 - vote plurality Mr. Rockefeller rolled up against former Governor Averell Harriman in 1958, the current disorganization of the Democrats, and that party's lack to date of a popular candidate.

Despite the confused state of the Democratic organization, Mr. Rockefeller's task of improving upon his 1958 plurality is a difficult one. His last campaign saw whirlwind hand-shaking tours and a personable appearance parlayed into an impressive victory over a rather austere Governor Harriman, whose own campaign never really got off the ground.

Next year, Governor Rockefeller must campaign on his administration record. Democrats are sure to emphasize charges that the Rockefeller programs have resulted in excessive taxation.

The tactic of the GOP, it now appears, will be to meet this issue squarely rather than attempt to sidestep it.

Nelson L. Meader, whose term will expire in June, has indicated his intention to run for re-election.

Petitions, as required under state education law for the nomination of candidates, are being circulated for both Arthur Brown and Mr. Meader.

The election will be held Tuesday evening, June 20, at the annual school meeting. At that time, residents will also vote on the school budget for 1961 - 62 and will act on a proposed resolution authorizing the board to purchase a 61 - passenger pusher - type school bus. The estimated cost is $12,900.

Copies of the tentative budget will be available at the school June 12.

At this writing, only Brown and Meader have indicated their intentions to run for the board. Others may run, however, if they file nominating petitions, signed by 25 residents, not later than June 6.

Legal experts say that Lilly, or whomever the Governor appoints at this time, can serve only until the end of 1961. The remaining three-year term, therefore, must be filled at the election in November. Party nominations will be determined at the primary on Thursday, Sept. 7.

So far no one has announced he is seeking the nomination.

Lilly in Line For Sheriff Appointment

Robert Lilly, undersheriff, is expected to be named sheriff of Warren County to succeed Carl K. McCoy who resigned last week. Mr. Lilly is now acting sheriff.

Gov. Rockefeller who announced in Albany acceptance of McCoy's resignation indicated he would appoint a successor by May 31, the effective date of McCoy's resignation.

In his letter to the Governor, McCoy said, he was resigning to take a job in private industry.

When McCoy, a native of Diamond Point, took office in 1955 at the age of 31 he was the second youngest sheriff in the U.S. He had been a deputy since 1946 and undersheriff since 1951. When former Sheriff "Dick" Baker declined to run for re-election in 1954, McCoy was elected. He was re-elected in 1957 and 1960.

The dedication ceremony will be held at 10:30 a.m. at the Aviation Rd. interchange of the Northway of Glens Falls.

In addition to opening the Interstate facility, the Governor will dedicate the new 3.8 mile Glens Falls East - West Bypass, constructed by Warren County at a cost of $444,000.

Joining the Governor will be State Superintendent of Public Works J. Burch McMorran and officials of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, Warren County and local communities.

The dedication will be sponsored by the Highway Committee of the Glens Falls Chamber of Commerce. In connection with the opening Glens Falls merchants will hold a three-day celebration featuring sales and special events.

The new Northway facility begins at Route 9 southwest of South Glens Falls and extends northward, west of Glens Falls, to Gurney Lane. It is a four-lane divided expressway except for a new Hudson River bridge built to six-lane width to accommodate future increases in traffic.

Included in the project was the Hudson River crossing, structures carrying Route 9, Spiders Falls Rd. and Butler Rd. over the Northway, and five miles of interchange ramps and access roads. Traffic interchange facilities were provided under this contract at the Route 9 junction.

The new Interstate section is the third in the Northway system to provide for bypassing of a major urban area by through traffic. Previously opened segments of the expressway include 15 miles between Albany and Clifton Park and nine miles around the City of Plattsburgh.

present time, a group of 55 juniors majoring in General Forestry are taking part in the college's 35th annual spring camp, which is held each year at Pack Forest.
