Choral Fete
To Honor Judge Moss

The 16th annual Brooklyn Choral Festival, marking the third day of the week-long event, will continue today and be dedicated to the late Brooklyn Metropolitan Judge Moss, one of the first Negro judges in the country. King of Kings Episcopal Church in the Flatbush section was the setting for the festival, which will be sponsored by the Brooklyn Choral Society. Moss, who died of a heart attack, was the first Negro judge in the country.
