MR. SWINBURNE'S
New Book

BEHIND the Footlights.

The Saturday Evening Post.

Of the complete edition of the poems of Charles Swinburne, now being published by Charles & Wirick, of London, hardly anything need be said, as it will be generally known to readers of the English Press that a large number of the poems are the property of the author, and that the work is intended as a memorial of his life and works. The 16th edition of the text is now in press, and will be published in a few months. It is probably the last of the series of books that the author has published in his own lifetime. The "Musée," by William Shakespeare, has been issued in a second edition, and is now in print. The "Faerie Queene," by Percy Bysshe, has also been issued in a second edition, and is now in print. The "Faerie Queene," by Percy Bysshe, has also been issued in a second edition, and is now in print.

SANITY and Safety...in Public Office

The opening September number of the American Medical Journal is devoted to the subject of "Sanity and Safety in Public Office." The report of the committee on the subject, made at the last meeting of the American Medical Association, is published in the present number of the Journal. The report is not only a valuable contribution to the subject, but is also a most important document for the guidance of physicians in the practice of their profession.

Interesting Autumn Season Foreshadowed by Announcements of the English Publishers

"The Year's Doings" is the title of a book that is announced for the autumn season by the English publishers. It is a sequel to the successful "The Year's Doings," and is expected to be equally popular. The book is a collection of essays and reviews, written by a number of distinguished authors, and is intended as a companion to the earlier work.

The Greatest Automobile Event Ever Held in America

The Vanderbilt Motor Cup Races of Long Island, fully described and illustrated.

The Conquest of the Air, or the Story of the Development of Aviation, by Charles A. Lindbergh, the aviator who made the first direct flight from New York to Paris.

In the Bible in Danger!

A remarkable collection of book plates, designed by the famous printer, William Morris, and engraved by the best English engravers. The plates are intended for use in the decoration of Bibles and other religious books.

The Women Hunters in the Wild West

The story of the women who have made their way to the wild west, and have become successful hunters. The book is illustrated with photographs of the women, and includes a description of their adventures in the wilderness.

The Primacy of All Envelopes

A sentimental sketch of the life of the great English poet, Robert Browning, and his paper-making wife, Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

NOTABLE FICTION FEATURES

Edited by Edith Aytoun (Mrs. Israel Zangwill), Rita and Edward M. Townsend. Complete in one number, illustrated.